Hondo Public School Notes.

Firstly, we wish to extend our thanks to the Hondo Anvil Herald for space
each week, in its paper.

At the first meeting of the Senior class, it was decided to ask for a column in the city paper for school news.
This has been granted us and we now ask that the patrons of the school and the paper read our reports, that they may see and know some of the many things we are attempting.

The school closes its first month this week. The entire enrollment is not as large as at the close of the first month
last year, but that of the High School is considerably increased. Also the distribution of the pupils in the grades is more even than that of last year, thus enabling better work to be accomplished.

The Senior class has organized and the following officers were elected:

President, Lela Windrow; Vice-President, John R. Wilson; Secretary, Nettie Fly; Treasurer, Lillian Brucks;
Press Reporter, Isabel Schneider.

Committees were appointed to choose the flower, color and motto for the class.

Tuesday is set apart for Faculty meetings, Scout meetings and other clubs that may be organized in school. Other evenings during the week are spent on the athletic fields. The foot ball team is making rapid progress and has five games scheduled; the first to be played, Oct. 5, against West Texas Military Academy, and the second, Oct. 13, against Uvalde High School; both on our own field.

The girl's Basket Ball team has begun practice, with Mrs. Frank Cockrell as coach and will be ready for its first game within three weeks.

SENSIBLE MARKETING OF COTTON ADVOCATED

Department of Agriculture Speakers Meet Farmers and Business Men in Conference.

Quite a number of business men and farmers met at the Y. M. B. L. rooms at 2 p. m. yesterday afternoon for the purpose of hearing former agricultural commissioner, Ed. R. Kone and Mr. Fletcher Davis of the Department of Agriculture discuss the question of the business-like and systematic marketing of cotton in order that the producer might receive a price for the staple in harmony with prices of other commodities.

Mr. S. L. Robertson, president of the Retail Merchants' Association, told of a meeting held in Dallas Sept. 21st, to outline a system of marketing, the plan of which would be outlined by the speakers this afternoon. This meeting had been attended by representatives from the Retail Merchants' Association, the Farmers' Union, the State Warehouse Department and the State Department of Agriculture, the object of which would be the co-operation of all these interests for the desired end. It was the opinion of this conference that cotton should not sell for less than 30 cents per pound and should only be placed on the market at all at this price gradually, for it was thought that cotton was actually worth from 30 to 50 cents per pound in comparison with other commodities.

Mr. Robertson then introduced Mr. Fletcher Davis, who spoke as follows:

"The most vital subject before the Farmers' Institutes and the people for consideration at the present time is the marketing of this year's cotton crop.

"In explaining this subject, let us consider it from three standpoints:

"1. Is a higher price for cotton justified?

"2. Can we reasonably expect to secure an increased price?

"3. And, if so, how can we secure it?

"Taking up the first phase of the subject, we must consider it from three standpoints also:

"First, we are now harvesting the third short crop in succession. These short crops, coupled with the extraordinary demands on cotton to clothe armies and furnish explosives, has consumed the world's accumulated stocks. With larger armies and increased armaments the demands for cotton for these purposes is increasing rather than diminishing. And there is no substitute for cotton available. The world's stock of sheep has decreased in number 54,500,000 head since the breaking out of the European war, thereby lessening the world's production of wool. The production of wool in the United States is normally 288,000,000 pounds. Our importations are one and a third times our production. But these imports are virtually cut off by the exigencies of war and we are now compelled to rely upon our own resources for these supplies. Army authorities estimate that it takes 100 pounds of raw wool to properly clothe and equip a soldier for one year. If we raise an army of three million men, we will need three hundred million pounds, or twelve million pounds more than our own domestic production, to equip our army, to say nothing about the rest of our population.

"The world has never faced such a need for material for clothing. It must have our cotton, no matter at what price.

"Second, careful calculations have established the fact that under normal conditions it costs ten cents a pound to produce cotton where a bale to the acre is raised. As the yield per acre decreases the cost per pound for production increases. Likewise an increase in the cost of labor, feed, horse-power, etc., means an increase in the cost of production. Therefore, in view of the short crop, and the increased cost of living, careful estimates place the cost of producing this year's crop at an average of 42½ cents per pound.

"Third, manufactured goods have already been sold to the jobbers on the basis of from 35c to 50c per pound for raw cotton.

"Therefore, we believe that we are justified in expecting a higher price for cotton than has been prevailing. We believe the farmer is entitled to some share in the difference between the manufacturers' price of raw cotton and the prevailing market price. We believe the farmer is entitled to a better compensation for his labor and better returns on his investments. We believe he is entitled to some share in the advantages to accrue from the tremendous demand for his product. We believe a higher price is justified. Thirty cents per pound instead of the prevailing price may mean the difference between a bankrupt South and a prosperous South; between a bankrupt Texas and a prosperous Texas.

"Seeing, then, that a higher price of cotton is justified, can we reasonably expect to secure an increased price?

"Cotton is one of the most sensitive commodities with which business has to deal, and the price is often influenced up and down by very insignificant circumstances.

"A study of cotton statistics shows that for the past twenty-seven years, every holding movement, whether resulting from such bears as Sully buying and holding spots, the Farmers' Union advising cotton holding, or Secretary McAdoo placing $30,000,000 in the Southern Reserve Banks for the relief of distressed cotton, as he did in 1915, has been attended by an advance in the market.

"In view of the present status of the cotton supply and the unusual demand, is it not reasonable to believe that by demanding 30 cents a pound and selling only so much as the market will absorb at that figure, the price can be secured?

"What, then, should be done to secure this just and fair price?

"It calls for the co-operation of the farmers, the bankers and the merchants of the South.

"No honest farmer will seek to throw unfair burdens on his merchant.

"No honest merchant will seek to unload the burden on his jobber or on his banker.

"Let the cotton be stored in a State bonded warehouse. Let a warehouse certificate be secured the regular way. And if money must be had, let it be borrowed on these certificates at 6 per cent, as provided by law, from the local bank if possible, and if the local bank cannot accommodate you, go to the Federal Reserve bank at Dallas, which can and will lend you the money.

"Let the farmer quit yoking himself up with the cotton gamblers and letting them run away with the price. Let him yoke up with those agencies that his State and National Governments have formed for him to control the marketing of his crop and he can secure a reasonable price for the product of his toil."

Judge Kone said in part:

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow Citizens: Having been reared on a black land farm and being a practical farmer myself, I feel that I might be able to make you some practical suggestions in the manner of studying and knowing your soil, better methods of seed selection, tillage and the general handling of your land. But I feel constrained to confine myself to the propaganda for which this present itinerary was made.

"For the last ten years I have preached from the house-tops of one end of this State to the other, that the most difficult problem that presented itself to the farmer was that of a systematic marketing of that which he produces. I have already recognized and now insist that the best results will not come to him without a thorough organization and a spirit of co-operation among all the people; the man in town and the man on the farm must come together in this effort that the best results may be brought to pass for the benefit of all. Recognizing this fact, soon after I took charge of your Department of Agriculture, I sought out and obtained an opportunity to address the Bankers' Convention of this State along these lines. They at once grasped the force of the argument and appointed an agricultural committee from their body and, I am proud to say, good results have flowed from their work. They, today, more than ever before, recognize the fact that all created wealth in this State comes either directly or indirectly from the good, kind soil, and the further fact that the plowman and the herdsman are the men who create their wealth. As they prosper, all others prosper.

"In addition to the three good substantial reasons given to you by my friend, Mr. Davis, why cotton at this time should be bringing 30 cents a pound, I give you this additional one. Everything that you have to buy is out of proportion to the price of cotton, almost if not double. The three short crops, following one after the other, the fact that the heretofore accumulated surplus in the hands of the spinners is now exhausted, the shortage in our wool, growing out of the fact that we cannot now import wool, all combine to make it a very easy proposition for us acting in a co-operative way, to put the cotton at 30 cents. All that the farmer will have to do to bring this to pass is to do his duty to himself; that is, first, put up an honest package, have the ginner take an honest sample therefrom, go to his banker and borrow the amount of money he needs at 6 per cent, pay his debts and say to the cotton buyer, 'My cotton is in the warehouse; it is worth 30 cents, and when you get ready to pay that amount for it you can have it, and not until then.' If you can not get the money from your local banker, all you have to do is to send your certificate to Mr. Ramsey at Dallas and his bank will furnish the money at 6 per cent.

"This is not a holding move of cotton. It is simply a safe and sane marketing system of the same one that has been too long neglected, one which if put into execution will make Texas blossom as a rose, benefit every man, woman and child in Texas, improve the rural home, take from the cotton fields of this State the rosy-cheeked, bright-eyed girls and boys, and place them in the school houses, where they justly belong, take from the same place the mother and wife and place her in her home, where she will attend to those domestic duties that she is forced to neglect in order to help earn the living for the family.

"My friend Davis has shown you very clearly that it does not take much action upon the part of the people to bull the price of cotton. The Sully incident that he called your attention to, where he bought less than the crop of Ellis County, gave to the farmers of the South 4 cents additional on the pound. The incident of Haynes, Brown, Scales, and others redounded to their benefit in like measure. The efforts of the Farmers' Union and Southern Cotton Association had the same effect. Do you know that a simple resolution, passed by the Retail Merchants' Association of Texas, in convention assembled last year, advising the farmers to hold their cotton for a better price and promising to aid them financially in their efforts to do so, sent cotton up and up until you got a much better price than you would have gotten had it not been for that resolution? These incidents, my friends, show you that it does not take much of an effort to make a bull out of a bear in the cotton market. They work on either side of the tongue. They are simply gamblers that take any position that in their judgment will make them money by gambling in your cotton. If we want a fair price, we must do some bulling ourselves. And that is what this movement means."

Mrs. Anna Fuos.

Mrs. Anna Fuos, age 38, died in a local hospital yesterday morning after an illness of two weeks. She is survived by her husband and three children. The body was taken to Dunlay, by the Zizik Undertaking Company for burial.—S. A. Express, Oct. 5.

Broke His Arm.

T. B. Holloway, of the firm of Holloway Bros., happened to an accident Tuesday morning that will cause him some inconvenience, as far as working around the store is concerned, for some time at least.

Mr. Holloway attempted to crank the firm's magnificent Studebaker Super—? in preparation for the day's business when from some unaccountable cause the engine "kicked" breaking his right arm just above the wrist. He had the injured member "repaired" and is now getting along as well as could be expected.

Just what caused the engine to "kick" has not been determined, as he had cranked it at least one thousand times before without happening to any accident, but the intimation that the near approach of the firm's busy season, and the also near approach of the open hunting season had anything to do with it is hardly probable (we understand he uses his left arm in shooting). Of course no one expects him to work with a broken arm, but as to going hunting—well, that's different; besides there's more fun in hunting than in working any old time, and T. B. enjoys stalking the game of the jungle.

We sympathize with the other member of the firm; he has a lot of hard work ahead of him, for his partner's arm will not permit him to work before the closed hunting season sets in at least.

The Biry School.

The Biry Rural High School opened Monday, Sept. 17, with Professor A. W. Myres as principal, Miss Nannie Littleton 1st assistant and Miss Naomi Griffin 2nd assistant.

The opening was attended by most of the patrons, several neighboring teachers and Supt. Saathoff of Hondo. At 9:00 a. m. the pupils were called to order, classed etc., after which they were dismissed and dinner was spread in regular picnic style, and could not have been more enjoyable.

At 1:30 the attendants were assembled in the school room again, to hear Mr. Henry Bendele, Supt. Saathoff and Prof. Myres speak in interest of good rural schools and education.

The day was one of real merriment from beginning to end, and every one seemed to have enjoyed it. (One of the patrons)—The Devine News.

Cancer a Blood Disease.

Dr. O. A. Johnson, who has been pursuing scientific cancer research for a number of years was among the first investigators to announce cancer as a blood disease. The doctor has published a new illustrated book in which he explains the cause of cancer and describes symptoms in various locations and stages of development. Also many reports of cases treated during the past 17 years are given in evidence of the success of his method of treatment, which is entirely non-surgical. This valuable book ought to be in the hands of every cancer sufferer. For a free copy address Dr. O. A. Johnson, Suite 560, 1320 Main St., Kansas City, Mo.

New Clazier's Hammer.

For setting panes of glass in window and other frames, a hammer is available which facilitates the work by giving a glazier perfect freedom in driving points, and also lessens the liability of accidental breakage, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The tool is but little heavier than an ordinary tack-hammer and provided with a double-faced head of trapezoidal form.

Because of the shape of the faces, which have angular sides, the handle of the tool slants away from the flat surface of the glass when being used, thus permitting a workman to strike the points squarely and without difficulty.

Food Value of Milk.

A New York authority contends that one quart of milk is equal in food value to any one of the following:

Three-quarters of a pound of beef-steak.
Three-fifths of a pound of ham.
Four-fifths of a pound of pork chops.
Eight eggs.
Three pounds of fresh codfish.
One pint of oysters.
Two pounds of chicken.

By comparing the prices of the articles named one may arrive at a fairly accurate value of milk as a food at present prices.

Apple Surprise.

Pare and remove cores with a corer from juicy, tart apples; fill cavities with sugar mixed with cinnamon, chopped raisins and a little butter; then steam until tender, but unbroken. In the meantime boil rice in salted water until tender but not mushy; then drain; when apples are done, roll them in beaten egg, then into the rice; set on a buttered dish; dust with pulverized sugar and set in a hot oven for a few moments. Serve with a lemon and maple sugar sauce.

Shaker Layer Cake.

Cream together one-half cupful of butter and one cupful of light brown sugar; add two eggs beaten light, one-half cupful of water, one teaspoonful of lemon extract, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted with one and three-fourths cupfuls of flour and one cupful of hickory or butternut meats chopped rather coarse. Bake in layers and put together with brown sugar, cream icing or plain white icing. Ornament the top of the cake with halves of nut meats.

To Keep Cheese.

Grate the cheese and to each pound allow half a pound of butter. Melt the butter and while hot put in the grated cheese, mix well with a fork and with the fork press into small jars, tumblers or odd cups. Cover with thin paper dipped in milk. The cheese is much richer, but delicious, and will spread with a knife. It may be used without butter and mold will not attack it.

Delicious Tomato Soup.

Half can tomatoes, one small onion, third teaspoonful soda. Cook together and strain. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter and thicken with flour. Scald one and a half pints of milk and pour gradually over butter and flour, stirring constantly until smooth. When ready to serve pour tomato and milk together and season with salt and pepper.

Dutch Beef Loaf.

Run twice through the meat chopper a pound and a half of round of beef and one-fourth pound fresh pork, add one-half cupful stale bread crumbs, soaked in stock or milk, one-half cupful canned tomatoes, and celery salt, minced parsley, salt, red pepper and grated onion to season.

Mix thoroughly, shape into a loaf, brush with beaten egg, sprinkle with crumbs and bake, basting with melted butter and stock. Serve with tomato sauce.

To Make Cakes Lighter.

A wire egg whip will beat a cake in less time and also make it of finer grain.

A Left-Over.

Mrs. Maude Davis Gained Fourteen Pounds on Tanlac.

"It's the First Winter in Twenty Years I Haven't Had to Spend Half My Time in Bed", She Says.

"I actually weigh more than I ever did in my life. I feel better than I remember ever feeling, and my friends say they have never seen me looking as well as I do now." This remarkable statement was made a few days ago by Mrs. Maude Davis, 2704 Hickory street, Dallas, Tex., while relating her experience with Tanlac. Mrs. Davis is the wife of W. J. Davis, the well known special officer, and their many friends will be glad to learn of her complete restoration to health.

"I don't know how long," continued Mrs. Davis, "I have been afflicted with catarrh of the stomach and head, but the trouble became acute twenty years ago and I just can't describe the suffering I have endured since that time until I got relief by taking Tanlac. My food would not digest, my stomach was all bloated up with gas and my heart would flutter so at times I would almost faint. I would spit up frothy-looking, stringy phlegm, had a constant dropping of mucus into my throat and my eyes were watery and pained me all the time. I was tired and languid and so dizzy at times I could hardly stand up. I suffered almost beyond endurance and had fallen off until I only weighed ninety-eight pounds. I had tried all kinds of medicines and had the very best treatment, yet I continued to suffer and grow worse and had become discouraged and despondent about my condition.

"But when I read about the good Tanlac was doing so many Dallas people, I had a new hope. I felt like it would help me too and it certainly has, even beyond my expectations. I just now realize what good health is, I never felt as well before, and this is the first winter in twenty years I have not had to spend fully half of my time in bed. I have taken five bottles of Tanlac and have not only gained fourteen pounds in weight, but all my troubles are gone, too. I never told my husband and neighbors I was taking Tanlac until my face filled out and my color got so good, and now they are all talking about my wonderful recovery; and many of my neighbors are taking Tanlac and getting well too, since seeing what it has done for me. Tanlac has made my husband and me both happy by giving me my health, and I'm glad to give this statement because I know there are lots of other people who need just such a medicine as Tanlac to get them over their suffering and make them well and happy."

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H. Windrow, in Devine by Lion Drug Store, in D'Hanis by Louis Carle, in LaCoste by Dickey Drug Co., and in Dunlay by Louis A. Baby.

And the slacker goes by with a girl on his arm,
And laughs at the soldier—poor unlucky cuss—
You go with the slacker—why ostracize us?

The slacker rides 'round in a Ford of his own
And charges us a quarter to haul us to town;
We're doing our duty; his liver is white,
Yet we leave the street at 11 each night,
While he sticks around as long as he cares,
And laughs at the soldier—whenever he dares.

Disciplin, we know, is a thing that must be,
But, honest to goodness, we fail to see,
When the soldier drinks nothing but water and pop,
Why the drinks of the slacker can't also be stopped?

If the slacker can dance, it seems rather hard
That at all decent dances the uniforms are barred.

We have shouldered our rifles and taken our place,
And we'll go to our death with a smile on our face,
But this is our honest appeal to you.
Until we cross over, please give us our due.

Which is Better—Try an Experiment or profit by a Hondo Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented. The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit. But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had a bad back, A lame, weak, or aching one, Would you experiment on it? You will read of many so-called cures. Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony. Read this Hondo case:

Thos. McCall, carpenter, says: "A short time ago I came down with an attack of kidney trouble. My back ached so severely, I could hardly stoop over or lift anything and this made it difficult for me to do my work. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Windrow's Drug Store, helped me right away and two boxes removed the trouble. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others suffering from disordered kidneys."

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. ### LIFT OUT YOUR CORNS

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain.

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

This drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin. Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist don't have freezone have him order it for you.

Bendele-Bomba.

A beautiful and impressive wedding took place at the St. Louis Catholic church in Castroville, Texas, last Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock when Rev. Bomba, a young business man of Moore, Texas.

The ceremony was witnessed by a number of invited relatives and friends. The attendants were Mrs. A. Schmidt, matron of honor; Miss Katherine Bomba, bride's maid; and little Duicibell Schmidt as ring-bearer. The bride was accompanied to the altar by her brother, Wm. J. Bendele, who gave her in marriage. The bridegroom awaited her coming with his best man, Rud. W. Bendele.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white taffeta and Georgette crepe, trimmed with orange blossoms, while the groom wore the regulation black.

Following the wedding ceremony a bounteous dinner was served at Alberdeli, the ranch home of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Bomba left on the evening train for Corpus Christi and other points east, and will be at home at Moore, Texas, after October 10th.
